WASHINGTON, May 29th.

The following from Fort Monroe, dated Monday evening, May 27th, is from the correspondent of the Associated Press:

A force of twenty-five hundred men including a few regulars and four pieces of artillery, formed, to-day, an entrenched camp at Newport, near the mouth of the James river, about ten miles from Fort Monroe. Newport commands, to a great extent the peninsula between the James and York rivers. A large force is to be assembled there, and so important a movement is likely to meet opposition. There was evidently great activity at Sewall's Point, last night. Hampton is nearly deserted. The long bridge there was burned on Saturday. About one hundred fugitives came in this morning. They were provided with rations and set to work.

Harper's Ferry, if it is not already evacuated, will soon fall. The troops there are not near as numerous as has been stated, there are not over four thousand in or about the place, and they are miserably equipped and nearly starved. Gen. McClellan, with fifteen thousand troops, is already on the march towards Harper's Ferry; another force will proceed from Chambersburg, under Gen. Keim; another from the Relay House, and still another from Washington, to cut off the rebels.

GOLDEN GATE, May 29th.

The clipper-ship Underwriter, cleared on the 22d ult., and sailed on the evening of the 23d, from this port for New York, having 634 Saints on board, under the Presidency of Elder Milo Andrus, assisted by Elders Homer Duncan, and C. W. Pennington as Commissioners.

President Andrus left the Valley in the fall of 1859, in company with the Elders who started for Europe at that time. Since his arrival here, he has traveled and preached in various parts of the Mission, doing good, and sowing the seeds of increased faith and righteousness. On the first of January last he was appointed to the Presidency of the Birmingham District, where a warm and deep feeling of love sprang up in the hearts of the Saints towards him during the short time he had charge of the District. His rapidly failing health compelled him to leave for Zion, much to our regret; but he carries with him the love and blessings of thousands of Saints, among whom he has labored effectively for good.

Elder Duncan left the Valley in the Spring of 1860; and since his arrival here he has labored with energy and success.

On the 1st of Jan. last he was appointed to the Presidency of the Warwickshire Conference, where he speedily gained the good feelings and love of the Saints. He has been compelled to leave, in consequence of his failing health, having suffered more or less from sickness since his arrival.

Elder John Skerry, who started from the Valley at the same time as Elder Duncan, likewise left the Underwriter, at the south end of Main St.
